A black and white portrait of a young man, likely a student, wearing a suit and tie. He has short, dark hair and is looking slightly to the right of the camera. The image is a head-and-shoulders shot, showing him from the chest up. He is wearing a dark suit jacket over a light-colored shirt and a patterned tie. The background is a plain, light color. CLASS SONG 1945

As we draw our high school days
At Ellsworth to an end,
We leave to go our separate ways
And say good-bye to friends

Into the world ahead of us
We venture with eager mind;
Our course we've set, our goal to get
May God our pathways find.

Hail and farewell, dear Ellsworth,
It's time to say adieu;
The past four years were happy ones;
Our many thanks to you.

CLASS

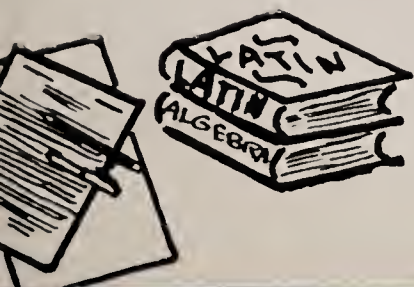

OUR FAREWELL TO ELLSWORTH

'Tis time for us to bid Ellsworth farewell;
Our four years of high school are o'er.
We will all be back to visit you
But as students, never more.

Our years have been short; our days have been happy
All the time we've been here.
We've done our work faithfully, had our fun joyfully;
Our four years have been filled with good cheer.

To our teachers and parents and classmates and friends
We say farewell with a sigh;
But wherever we go in the years to come
We'll carry Ellsworth's banner high.

Class HISTORY 1945

It is now my pleasant duty to bring to you the History of the Class of '45.

On a bright morning in early September, 1941, we entered Ellsworth from several grammar schools. The first year was spent in making new friends and becoming accustomed to daily life at Ellsworth.

To make us feel more a part of the high school the sophomores gave a party in our honor. Later in the year we returned this gesture of friendship by holding one in their honor. As is the custom, we did not elect class officers until the half year. After the ballots had been counted, we found that James Blozie was President; Kenneth Perry, Vice President; Carolyn Arnold, Secretary, and Anna Mae Richardson, Treasurer.

After a summer that disappeared all too quickly, we again entered Ellsworth, this time as sophomores. To make the incoming freshmen feel more at home we invited them to a party. This year our class officers were President, Robert Sansom; Vice President, John Kennedy; Secretary, Doris Butler; and Treasurer, Helen Muska.

Although many boys took part in athletics as freshmen, their abilities did not come into prominence until the sophomore year. Among those participating this year were John Kennedy, Kenneth Perry, Adam Wisniewski, Charles Morrill, John Ahern, Henry Sheridan, Robert Sansom, Theodore Flack, James Blozie, George Krivickas, Vittie Masiunas, George Christoph, Stanley Williams, Charles Callahan, James Norton, Raymond Beck, and Leonard Parent.

After a summer of hard work we again elected our class officers. They were President, Charles Callahan; Vice President, James Norton; Secretary, Madelyn Daley; and Treasurer, Irene Schlichting.

The Junior Prom, which we sponsored this year, was a gala affair. The main idea was quite a startling change from what had been done before. The gym was decorated to resemble a night club. For ceiling decoration a huge square of blue cheese cloth was used. Card tables were placed around the dance floor to give a more realistic effect. The orchestra was situated at the west end of the gym. Due to the tireless efforts of Carolyn Arnold and her many assistants the prom was a huge success.

Again taking prominent parts in boys' athletics were James Blozie, Theodore Flack, Robert Sansom, Adam Wisniewski, John Kennedy, Stanley Williams, Charles Callahan, James Norton, John Ahern, Herbert Duke, Vittie Masiunas, Henry Sheridan, Albert Setsky, and Raymond Beck.

To make new students and freshmen feel more a part of Ellsworth, the Senior Get-Together was held in early fall. The various committees under Charles Callahan did a fine job. James Blozie as Master of Ceremonies did much to make the evening a success. Among several contests the watermelon contest held the spotlight.

On a Tuesday in November, 1944, a comedy entitled "A Mind of Her Own" was presented. Seniors taking part were Karol Wadach, Carole Wall, James Norton, Doris Butler, Laura Jane Pascoe, and Alice Clapp. Staging was in charge of Adam Wisniewski. Who will ever forget Karol Wadach's Southern drawl, or Carole Wall's red slacks?

With the help of many prominent seniors the soccer squad enjoyed a successful season. The S. C. H. E. dance this year, under the direction of several seniors, was a patriotic one featuring red, white and blue decorations. In the center of the dance floor was a wishing well into which each couple dropped a penny and made a wish.

Helping to maintain the excellent reputation of Ellsworth in basketball circles this year were James Blozie, Henry Sheridan, John Kennedy, and James Norton.

With Carolyn Arnold as Editor-in-chief, the staff of the very popular school paper "South Winds" included Irene Schlichting, Linda Grennan, Charles Callahan, Laura Jane Pascoe, Connie Matkof, Anna Mae Richardson, Helen Muska, Phyllis Neelans, Karol Wadach, Doris Butler, Herbert Duke, Dorothy Davis, Blanche Watson, Alice Clapp, Adele Luchina, and Madelyn Daley.

Among the girls taking part in athletics were Irene Schlichting, Florence Boroski, Ilene May, Anna Mae Richardson, Phyllis Neelans, Linda Grennan, and Helen Muska.

As the year drew to a close, we were awarded the use of the front steps. The entire student body was assembled by rank in front of the school. Our president, Charles Callahan, stepped forward and accepted the deed to the front steps from the retiring senior president, William Arnold. A few days later school closed with most of us looking forward to being seniors.

At last the time had arrived; we were seniors. We could use the front steps and sit in the front rows in assembly. Being seniors also brought us new responsibilities. With these in mind John Kennedy was elected President; William Pitney, Vice President; Dorothy Howlett, Secretary, and Carole Wall, Treasurer.

Several new ideas were suggested by our class this year. The possibility of a senior sponsored prom was discussed. After appointing a committee under the leadership of Stanley Williams to look into the matter, we decided that it was not advisable to hold one.

A New York trip was also discussed and a committee consisting of Charles Callahan, Irene Schlichting, and Stanley Williams was appointed. After several weeks of indecision the group decided because of transportation difficulties and the small number of interested students that it would be better to cancel the trip.

Another innovation made by our class is the plan of having a hard cover on the yearbook. A snapshot section has also been added. In this section appears an informal picture of each senior. Ray Van Sicklin, in charge of taking the pictures, could be seen rushing around almost every day trying to get his job done. The track pictures were the most difficult of all, as the snow wouldn't melt to suit the convenience of the staff. Others on the yearbook staff headed by William Pitney were Irene Schlichting, Doris Butler, Connie Matkof, Raymond Beck, Madelyn Daley, James Blozie, Henry Sheridan, and James Norton.

Among those entering the service from our class have been Millan Kubasek and George Krivickas.

Throughout our four years at Ellsworth, we have tried as a class and as individuals to uphold the traditions handed down to us by other classes. We have tried to promote an air of friendliness toward other students and teachers alike. This general feeling will not end here, for we shall try to uphold the good reputation of Ellsworth wherever we may be. Although this completes the history of our activities as a class, we hope that it has been only a prelude to our achievements in the future.

CARL BUETTNER

CLASS HISTORIAN

THE LAST WILL and TESTAMENT

As we, the Class of 1945, depart from Ellsworth Memorial High School, we leave the following testament of our affection for our Alma Mater:

Doris Butler leaves to Marian Patinsky all her nice clothes and golden curls. Don't break too many hearts with them, Marian.

John Ahern passes on his wolf instinct, plus one 1933 Plymouth sedan to Eddie Jaworski. This ought to help you out, Eddie.

To Fanny Roe, who we thought might look good in red, go Carole Wall's acting ability and red slacks.

Donald Bancroft leaves his many trips between East Windsor and South Windsor to Bobby Norton. Where there's a will, there's a way, Bob.

Mary Pease, who many days has had a hard time trying to make her books balance, gladly turns over the job of selling lunch tickets to Dorothy Saypalia. We hope it doesn't bother you too much, Dorothy.

Ray Beck bequeaths his track form to Malcolm Macdonald. You had better keep in training, Malcolm.

Helen Batulevitz very sadly relinquishes some of her quietness to Shirley North. Don't be too quiet now, Shirley. Let us know you're around once in a while.

Jim Blozie wills his vast array of corny jokes to any Ellsworthian who thinks he can tell them and get laughs. Students may have to bring their ear muffs to school.

To anyone who feels the need of them, Phyllis Neelans gives her laughs and giggles. Just be careful how often you use them in the classroom.

Remo Bonali relinquishes all his rights to the pinball machine in Tyler's store to Hubbell Koetsch.

Adele Luchina leaves to Helen Pelton her speed in typing.

George Christoph submits all his guns and hunting equipment to Bill Steitz. Terry's Island is a cold place for duck hunting, isn't it, George?

June Golden sadly and reluctantly bequeaths to Carolyn Gregghi the job of school reporter for the Hartford Times. This should keep you busy, Carolyn.

Herb Duke wills his position as the smallest boy in the class to Kenny Reichle.

The job as editor-in-chief of the South Winds Carolyn Arnold gladly gives to anyone who likes headaches. The O. P. A. promises not to ration aspirin.

Carl Buettner leaves his great variety of cars to Nelson Morell. We hope you'll have enough A-coupons.

To Rose Wolk, June Mather bequeaths her ability to keep up her end in a conversation. Don't talk too long now, Rose.

Bill Harrington regretfully surrenders his little black book of Rockville telephone numbers to James Rice.

Ilene May and Florence Boroski give to Carolyn Pease their love for basketball.

Adam Wisniewski places his trapping business in the hands of his brother Jim. Don't quarrel over the profits, boys.

Linda Grennan leaves her love for dancing to Evelyn Kupchunos.

Jewell Burnham submits his ability to bother all the girls in homeroom to Sammy McGill.

Laura Jane Pascoe leaves to her sister her love for chemistry. Don't blow up the school, Marilyn.

Eddie King, after careful consideration, requests that all his superior marks be divided among any underclassmen who feel the need of them.

To Anne Cranick, Margaret Elinskas sadly turns over the job of keeping up the morale of the navy.

To some capable junior, John Kennedy leaves his ability to fulfill the all-important task of being president of the Senior Class.

Julia Pastula receives Connie Matkof's artistic ability. Don't spend all your time drawing, Julia.

George Krivickas submits to his brother Albert his position as Mr. Bennett's most capable assistant in the shop. That's keeping it in the family anyway.

Her quiet way of delivering absence slips, Pearl McHugh bequeaths to Roger Bragg. Remember now, Roger, don't disturb the classes too much.

Millan Kubasek leaves his faithfulness in getting his home work done on time to John Kissane.

Anna Mae Richardson gives some of her height to Rose Surber. Maybe now you can see over the people in assembly, Rose.

Vittie Masiuncas bequeaths his love for dancing polkas to Henry Tanzer. You'd better start practicing, Henry.

The job of chief office assistant, Ruth Rockwell gives to Laurel Parent. Your job as cheer-leader ought to put you in good trim for running errands, Laurel.

To Larry Muska, Jimmy Norton wills his curly hair. It helps to attract the girls, Larry.

Dorothy Perkins and Betty Havey leave their job on refreshment committees to anyone who has a fondness for good food.

Donald Osborn submits his mechanical drawing skill to Roddy Grant. You didn't want to be a draftsman anyway, did you, Roddy?

The job of taking the new magazines each morning to the library A Period, Dottie Howlett passes on to Jean Saxton.

Bill Pitney leaves his set of drums in the hands of Tom Barry. Maybe you'd better beat it, Bill.

To someone who likes a busy life, goes Madelyn Daley's and Irene Schlichting's knack for getting on all the committees of the various organizations.

Al Setsky places his championship baseball and basketball team, the South Windsor Reds, in the hands of Al Borys.

Dorothy Davis's Southern accent is given to Marie Sullivan. Don't charm too many people with your Southern talk, Marie.

Bernie Schortman leaves his after-school job in Smith's Store to Francis Kessler. Don't spend too much time in the delivery truck.

Avis Hall receives Florence Wadsworth's love for sewing. Remember, Avis, pins are hard to get.

Dave and Reggie Scribner will their control of the Warehouse Point Green for football games to Dick Cooper.

Eleanor Chayko's love for basketball and baseball games goes to Danny Bourke. We sometimes wonder if it's the game or the players who are the most interesting.

Dick Simler submits his love for discussing politics and baseball to Pete Zikowitch. Don't get into too many arguments, Pete.

Gert Sansom is the recipient of Helen Muska's charming smile and friendliness. Be sure to use them often, Gert.

Henry Sheridan surrenders his long legs, which enable him to get into class just as the door is closed, to Eddie Griswold.

June Armstrong gives to Janice Hale her way of breaking the boys' hearts. Careful, Janice.

Howard Tersavich bequeaths his ability to come to school late every morning to Billy Schubert. It's a long walk home isn't it, Howie?

Barbara Grant bequeaths her love for country life to Sylvia Kocarnik. Don't get lost, Sylvia.

Vincent Sullivan leaves his love for baseball to Louis Sunega. Will Louis have as many lucky strikes as Vinnie had?

Blanche Watson gives the care of the big city of Scantic to Mr. Loeffler. Be sure no one gets lost there, Mr. Loeffler.

Phyllis Deveran leaves the job of arriving at school each morning around 7:15 to Kathy McGrath.

To some carefree underclassman, Ray Van Sicklin bequeaths his motorcycle and all the thrills and spills that go with it.

Karol Wadach submits his steady nerves and unfaltering voice for making morning announcements to Charlie Jorgensen.

Muriel Schweitzer leaves her position on the Connecticut Company's bus to Lois Wilder. Don't let the bus be late too often, Lois.

Stanley Williams wills all rights to the Windsor Locks drug store to Donald Davis. They have some nice waitresses there, don't they, Stan?

Jean Trombley, the sub deb of the class, leaves this honor to Cynthia Collins.

Charlie Callahan's ability to write the script for radio programs at the last minute goes to Allen Foster. Don't make them too corny, Allen.

Alice Clapp relinquishes her right to be leading lady in the school play to Lucille Grant.

Joe Vibert bestows his shyness toward the feminine group on Tiger Waikznis. Don't be too much of a bachelor, Tiger.

With everyone leaving this and leaving that, Tom Dillon, after much thought, says he just wants to leave.

Here on this eighth day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine-hundred and forty-five, we the President, John Kennedy; Vice President, William Pitney; Secretary, Dorothy Howlett; Treasurer, Carole Wall; set our seal to the last will and testament.

Signed and sealed by the Class of 1945 of Ellsworth Memorial High School, Town of South Windsor, County of Hartford, State of Connecticut, for their last will and testament in the presence of us who have hereunto subscribed ourselves as witnesses on this first day of June, 1945.

Class Prophecy

You have certainly done a wonderful job with this ranch in only ten years, Stanley.

Yes, but you have made quite a success of yourself, too. You know, it isn't every day that a fellow classmate gets appointed District Attorney of New York.

Who are these important looking men wandering around?

That's the C.A.C. Movie Production Company. You must remember Charlie Callahan, Red Ahern, and George Christoph. They are out here to shoot a western.

Oh, yes, I have heard of them. Don't they star Alice Clapp and Karol Wadach together quite a bit?

Yes, as a matter of fact, they are the stars of this picture. They should arrive tomorrow with the rest of the cast.

I saw Margaret Elinskas this morning. She said that she was here for a few days before going to San Francisco to meet her husband. His ship is coming in next week.

It must be nearly time for the Army-Notre Dame game. Hank Sheridan is coaching the Army team and Jake Kennedy is the Notre Dame coach.

So the old colleagues are friendly rivals now. With those two as coaches it should be a wonderful game.

I suppose Anna Mae Richardson will be there to cover the story. She is the Sports Editor of the "New York Times." Carolyn Arnold is the Editor-in-chief of that paper. Her experience on the "South Winds" did prove helpful after all.

Do you ever hear Betty Havey's radio program? She talks for a whole hour on feminine topics. Speaking of the radio, Laura Jane Pascoe is giving a special charity performance Sunday night. She is a concert pianist and has been traveling abroad for over a year. This will be her first public appearance since her return. Carole Wall will also be on the program. She has been Broadway's leading opera star for quite a while.

Another of our classmates that made good will be featured here tomorrow night. Billy Pitney and his band with Helen Batulevitz as torch singer will be here. Bill and Helen always make a big hit wherever they appear. Al Setsky and Pearl McHugh may come out for a week later on. They are the busiest skating team at Madison Square Garden.

I met Doris Butler the other day. She is the most popular pin-up girl at the Harrington-King Model Agency. She says that Billy Harrington and Eddie King are wonderful bosses.

Remember the N.G.A. Club that was started when we were seniors? It has spread and there are N.G.A. Clubs all over the country. Adam Wisniewski and Howie Tersavich are the chief executives and have their suite of offices in the Pentagon Building in Washington, D. C.

Isn't that wonderful! I never thought the N.G.A. would be that famous.

Oh, yes, and every few years the original members have a reunion in Blozie's potato warehouse. Remember how popular that used to be?

Don't tell me that Jimmy Blozie is a potato farmer.

He certainly is. I never use anything but Jimmy's potatoes. Why, the Blozie Potato Concern is the second largest in the United States.

Who did the interior decorating here? It's really beautiful. I am looking for a decorator to do my summer home in Broad Brook.

Oh, Linda Grennan did this. She does all my decorating for me. She is the best decorator I know.

That's right, too. Just the other day I read of her doing Connie Matkof's home in Beverly Hills. I suppose you knew that Connie is the Art Editor of "Vogue" and "House and Garden."

Yes. We certainly had a lot of talent in our class, didn't we?

Oh, Stanley, who is that gorgeous girl that just drove up? Such beautiful clothes!

Don't tell me you don't remember Jean Trombley. She is the deb of the year, you know.

I have seen her in movie shorts and in fashion magazines time and again, but I never believed her to be so beautiful. Barbara Grant designs her clothes, doesn't she?

Well, she did but C.A.C. is trying to sign her up as head designer at the studio. I doubt if she has time for both jobs. They have the country's leading talent out there. A couple of weeks ago they hired Eleanor Chayko as head of the hairdressing department.

There is a familiar face at the typewriter. It's Dottie Davis, isn't it?

She is a private secretary to Charlie Callahan at C.A.C. She was always good in that kind of work. Charlie says he doesn't know what he would do without her.

Everywhere I look I see some more celebrities.

Oh, you have seen only a few. This is supposed to be a secret, but June Mather and Vinnie Sullivan will be here as a specialty number tomorrow night.

How thrilling! I saw them on the stage a year or so ago. That dance routine of theirs is really something.

We have quite a program lined up for tomorrow night. Of course Jimmie Norton will be here with his guitar. He works here.

I wonder how many of our classmates have stayed in South Windsor. I know Florence Wadsworth did. She is teaching commercial subjects at Ellsworth.

And isn't Helen Muska girls' coach there? I hear she has quite a basketball team.

And June Armstrong and Vittie Masiunas have worked hard on the Masiunas Grill in Warehouse Point. The high school bunch gathers there after all the events at school. They say June is the perfect hostess.

I think Herby Duke stayed in Broad Brook, too. He is the president of the Broad Brook Company. Madelyn Daley is his private secretary.

Yesterday's paper said that Ray Beck just won the Buettner Award for Track for the 100 mile dash. Carl Buettner, the big oil man, gave the award. I hear he has just discovered another oil well.

That's right, and Ray Van Sicklin has just won the Motorcycle Hill Climb Contest with that motorcycle of his.

And Donny Bancroft and Tommy Dillon are the World's champion auto racing team.

Have you heard Remo Bonali's new all-girl band? Florence Boroski plays the base viol and Phyllis Neelans sings.

I hear them on the radio. Isn't Donald Osborn their announcer?

He also announces Joe Vibert's Hour of Horror with that great impersonator, Adele Luchina, supplying the sound effects.

That is the spookiest program I have ever heard. Adele and her sound effects are grand.

How do you like the car driving up? That's from the Burnham-Krivickas Garage. Jewell Burnham designs these new 1957 cars and George Krivickas is in charge of the actual building. I hear they are starting a new plant in Pleasant Valley.

Oh, really? That reminds me, the Scribner Brothers, Reggie and David, have opened up their new airport in Warehouse Point. They have engaged Ruth Rockwell as stewardess. She has just finished her nursing course. Mary Pease is also a full-fledged nurse. She is working in China with the American Red Cross.

Remember Dick Simler? He is a great brain specialist. Did you read about that great operation of his last week? He actually brought a person back to life.

He did that in Russia, didn't he? I hear he had quite a visit with Bernie Schortman. You know, he is the American Ambassador to Russia, now.

Is it true that the Brooklyn Dodgers have signed Tony Kubasek as first baseman? He always was quite a baseball player.

I heard that, too, so it must be true. Muriel Schweitzer is a big name at Sage-Allen in Hartford. Phyllis Deveran is her toy designer and special consultant.

I see Ilene May has just arrived. She is the make-up artist at the C.A.C. set. The only thing that she can't do is fix the stars' teeth. That's why Dorothy Perkins works with her. She is a dentist.

Did you see the newsreel about Rene Schlichting? She flew around Mars three times in that new rocket ship of hers.

Here comes my hostess, Dorothy Howlett, to greet the new guests. I honestly don't know what I would do without that girl as hostess.

Looks like another guest coming in. Isn't that Blanche Watson?

Yes, her husband just brought the ranch next to this. Don't you think that we have talked long enough? Remember you are here for a rest.

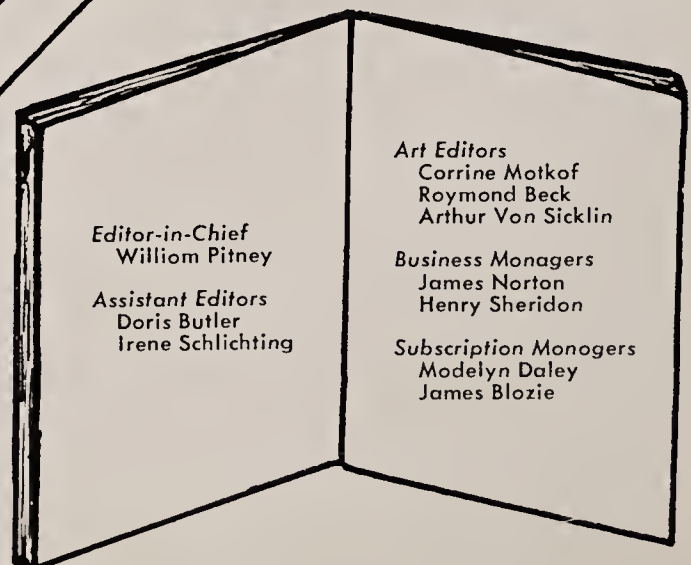

Maybe you are right. I guess I will lie down for a while before dinner; however, it has been fun to hear about the illustrious members of the great class of 1945.

This year the Dramatic Club, under the direction of Mrs. Bosworth, presented the three-act play, "A Mind of Her Own," for the public on November 21, 1944. Half of the proceeds went to the Dramatic Club; 20% to the Junior Class; 10% to the Sophomore Class; and 5% to the Freshman and Senior Classes. The proceeds were distributed according to the outcome in a ticket-selling contest for the play.

Under the direction of Miss Green, the group prepared a series of one-act plays throughout the winter and spring.

This year's Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Rose Mende, gave a number of concerts for assemblies. One of the highlights of the musical season was the Christmas program in which both the Glee Club and the Chorus participated. A novel feature was the singing of Christmas Carols in the corridors. This seemed to put the whole school in a Christmas spirit.

This year a major addition to our school organizations was the orchestra composed of thirteen members from the four classes. The group met and practiced during a regular class period but played at many school assemblies, between the acts of the school play, and at other school functions. Their music has been a most welcome contribution to our programs.

The Hi-Y Club was well represented by two representatives and a senator at the state capital. Once again the club sponsored several war bond drives in collaboration with national drives. Each time the school's goal was exceeded.

This year the cheer leaders helped maintain our high standards of sportsmanship with the aid of the student body. Their flashy gold satin outfits, which were trimmed with maroon, and three new cheers, Fight Team, the Chu Chu Cheer, and the Score Cheer, helped brighten up the games.

The basketball team continued performing in typical Ellsworth fashion. After winning nineteen consecutive games throughout the season, the boys captured the championship of the class C tournament. This is the fifth time in the history of the school that this feat has been accomplished. The team deserves much credit for maintaining such an outstanding record.
